Personal statement

During my bachelor of education, I joined the lab which studying the effect of DEHP exposure and exercising on hippocampal neuroplasticity. Since then, I've been fascinated by how memory works. After graduated, I worked as a RA at the Department of Physiology. While that time, I got to know more about the study of ion channels and found my interests in electrophysiology. Currently, I joined in Lien lab then learned in vivo tetrode recording and ex vivo slice electrophysiology. My future research interest tends to investigate the hippocampal micro-circuit during memory formation, especially how engram cells work. Collectively, I look forward to knowing more about the topic of memory through electrophysiology and learn more knowledge of Neuroscience.
